What are the rules of spanish 21

Spanish 21 is a version of Blackjack that balances a higher house edge with more play options, additional bonus prizes, and large potential payouts. The game follows the same basic rules as standard Blackjack, but with so many new choices and options, it's best to learn as much as you can before playing. There are several rules, play options and bonus prizes that are unique to Spanish 21: In Spanish 21 all four tens are removed from each deck of cards in the shuffle. That means a 48-card deck instead of 52, containing 12 ten value cards instead of 16. This reduces the odds of receiving a ten and tips the game in the house's favour, which they make up for by providing more bonus prizes with large potential payouts. Reach a hand total of 21, and you always win, even if the dealer gets a natural Blackjack (an ace and a ten-value card as their two first cards). In standard Blackjack, you'd either lose or tie (if you also had a natural Blackjack) in this situation. Standard Blackjack only lets you double down on your first two cards. In Spanish 21, you can double down even after you've hit for a third, fourth, fifth - any number of cards. Some casinos allow re-doubling, on a hand that's already been doubled. Your double down bet can be anything below or matching your original bet. Tip Doubled hands give you an extra chance to win but are ineligible for Spanish 21's bonus and Super Bonus payouts. If you double down without busting (going over 21), and you still don't like your hand, you can take back your double down bet, but must forfeit the match and your original wager. Players can split any two equal cards (pairs) like usual, but unlike the traditional version, if the new hands also contain any pairs they can split again (re-split), up to maximum of four hands at a time. Tip Bonus 21 prizes are still paid out on split hands, but the Super Bonus is not. If you don't expect to win based on your first two cards, Spanish 21 lets you surrender and leave the round and get half your original bet back. The typical hand signal is to "scratch" the table, but you can simply tell the dealer you surrender. In Spanish 21 you can bet on the likelihood of any of your first two cards matching the dealer's up card in rank, and if they match you'll get paid out more or less depending on if they share suits. Just place your bet on the Match the Dealer betting area - the minimum is $1 and the max is equal to your original bet, up to $50. Here's how winning matches pay out: 1 non-suited match = 3 to 1 2 non-suited matches = 6 to 1 1 suited match = 12 to 1 1 non-suited & 1 suited match = 15 to 1 2 suited matches = 24 to 1 Spanish 21 features extra bonus prizes based on nine different hands that total 21: Any 5 Card 21 = 3 to 2 Any 6 Card 21 = 2 to 1 Any 7+ Card 21 = 3 to 1 6-7-8 (Mixed Suits) = 3 to 2 6-7-8 (Same Suits) = 2 to 1 6-7-8 (Spades Only) = 3 to 1 7-7-7 (Mixed Suits) = 3 to 2 7-7-7 (Same Suits) = 2 to 1 7-7-7 (Spades Only) = 3 to 1 If you're lucky enough to hold three suited 7s, and the dealer draws any 7, you can win $1000 or $5000, depending on whether you bet under or over $25 for the original wager. If you win the Super Bonus, every other player who bet that rounds receives a generous "Envy Bonus" of $50. Tip You can't win the Super (or Envy) Bonus if you split or double your hand. Previous Next Basic strategy is a set of rules for different types of hands, advising you when it's best to hit, stand, split or double down. Following basic strategy can increase the odds of winning but can't guarantee you a win. Spanish 21 has its own basic strategy based on its unique differences above. Here's a "cue" card that you can use, even while playing at casinos. Apart from the classic version of blackjack online, there are also countless other interesting variants stemming from the original counterpart. And Spanish 21 with its own particular set of rules is one such variant that deserves recognition and perhaps even a play if you see fit! Here our guide goes through its rules, Spanish 21 basic blackjack strategy, and even points out a selection of online casinos where you can play this casino game. Spanish 21 is a table game which was first introduced at brick and mortar casinos in 1995. Essentially, the game is heavily based on its classic counterpart, Blackjack. And whilst many of the casino game's rules are predominantly the same, the game has several exciting rules and twists of its own just like several other variants that you can typically find online such as Blackjack Surrender, the game's British cousin Pontoon and many more. Generally, the casino game is played using a custom table layout which bears many similarities to that of the classic game of Blackjack. It's played with 6-8 decks of cards. However, unlike other games, it excludes all suited 10 cards. However, all the Jacks, Queens and Kings remain in the shoe. Hence, overall there are 25% of the 10-count cards are missing. The game is played with a 6-8 decks of cards of 48 cards each;The decks of cards used in this variant don't contain any10 point cards;The player's 21 always beats the dealer's 21;The house edge in Spanish 21 can be typically reduce by 1% and falls in the range of 0.40% - 0.76% when basic strategy is applied. Although the classic table game, Blackjack, has been around for quite a long time, the Spanish 21 variant has only been around for the last decade. However, it has picked up at casinos both online and offline for one reason - its advantageous rules for the player. To comprehend how Spanish 21 works, a player definitely needs to have a basic understanding of how to play Blackjack in its classic form. When playing Spanish 21, you'll notice the procedure is primarily synonymous to playing the classic version of Blackjack. During the initial stage of the game, you must place your bets in the betting spot. The dealer will then deal out the initial hand and you'll then have to decide your next move. The maneuvers in Spanish 21 are namely the same - Hit, Stand, Split and Double. As we've already mentioned in this article, in Spanish 21 the casino's snuck out all the 10s from the deck. And although this might seem to be a huge disadvantage for players, the different rule changes in the game compensate for their lack of presence in the deck. Below we delve into how to play Spanish 21 to offer you some clarification about which rules you need to be aware of! Hit, Stand & Split Rule In this particular game, the rules regarding hitting, standing and splitting are the same as the classic table game's rules. Namely, you'll only be allowed to hit, stand or split at any time after you've placed your bet and the dealer has given out the initial hand. However, we do recommend taking a look at the Spanish 21 strategy sheet before you decide which move to make. Late Surrender Rule Late surrender allows you to surrender your hand late, which means that you can give up your hand at any time for the loss of half your wager. This is great news for the player; just as in Blackjack Surrender, this rule is highly advantageous for the players. If you calculate your odds of beating the dealer's hole card, you can minimize your losses by forfeiting the hand and still getting half your bet back. Re-Splitting Rule Another great benefit of playing with Spanish 21 rules is that you are allowed to split aces and also re-split and double /re-double after splitting any pair. The late surrender rule still applies after splits and doublings; you might have a lot of money invested in one hand but if it goes straight to hell, it might be a good idea to get half your wager back. Match the Dealer Side Bet Rule Besides the rule variations mentioned above, Spanish 21 usually has some bonus games and additional side bets attached to the regular gameplay. Perhaps the most recognized is the Match the Dealer side bet which is also found in classic Blackjack online games. This bet is won by the player if either one or both of the preliminary cards match the dealers face-up card. However, as with most side bets, these type of wagers should be avoided to increase your chances of winning. Super Bonus Rule Spanish 21 is perhaps the only Blackjack online variant which offers a Super Bonus. And whilst the probability of actually hitting the Super Bonus is only about 1 in 668,382 in a six-deck game and 1 in 549,188 in a game with 8 decks, the thought of just having Lady Luck on your side whilst playing and hitting the Super Bonus is truly thrilling, to say the least. A player's 21 always beats a dealer's 21A dealer can hit or stand on a soft 17;Some casinos allow redoubling up to 3 times;Late surrender on the first two cards is allowed;Four ten-spot cards removed from every deck used. (Normally 6 to 8 decks are used);Dealer hits on 16 stands on 17;A player's 21 also always wins (even against a dealer blackjack);A total of 21 never pushes against a dealer's 21;Double after a split is allowed;Players may draw several cards after splitting Aces;Spanish 21 has bonus payouts for hands like 6-7-8, and 5-card 21's, sometimes called "Perfect Charlie" (2-3-4-5-7) and also for busted Perfect Charlies. For numerous Blackjack veterans out there, Spanish 21 is considered to be one of the most profitable variations of the game. And naturally, the amount you can win will only be lucrative provided that you follow the right strategy! Whilst we would typically recommend using our basic Blackjack strategy sheet, we highly recommend using the Spanish 21 strategy sheet found below instead which takes all the changes in rules into account. If you study the chart and compare it with regular blackjack strategy you will notice a few differences, mainly due to the tens being discarded from the deck. Following it will help you lower the house edge and possibly help you walk out of the casino with your head held high and your pockets a bit heavier than they were in the first place. Spanish 21 Strategy Chart If you study the chart and compare it with regular blackjack strategy you will notice a few differences, mainly due to the tens being discarded from the deck. We strongly advise you to not draw for the bonus payouts, and you should never place any additional side bets if you have to pay extra to be eligible for them. Notable also is that even though you have the option to surrender your hand, there are not many situations in which it is profitable to do so. Drawing Another Card Won't Always Make You Bust!The under-representation of 10-value cards lowers the risk of busting a lot of hands; therefore it's often more profitable to draw another card in Spanish 21. Players new to the game tend to overuse the surrender option, especially if they have a history of regular blackjack play. But if you follow the basic strategy as shown on the card above, this is a very enjoyable game. Spanish 21 Blackjack Strategy Sheet With its multiple changes in rules, Spanish 21 is a complex game to learn and will take some time. However, if you do manage to learn the strategy that goes with its rules, you can benefit profoundly. Thus, our experts always emphasize that you try to memorize as much as possible from the strategy chart pertaining to this particular variant rather than the one belonging to its classic counterpart. Don't Draw For The Bonus PayoutsWe strongly advise you to not draw for the bonus payouts, and you should never place any additional side bets if you have to pay extra to be eligible for them.Don't Surrender Too OftenPlayers who are new to the game of Blackjack often tend to overuse the surrender option, especially if they have a history of regular blackjack play. Yet, it's not always wise to do so. In fact, there are very few situations in which it's profitable to do so.Drawing Another Card Won't Always Make You Bust!The under-representation of 10-value cards lowers the risk of busting a lot of hands; therefore it's often more profitable to draw another card in Spanish 21.Avoid Match The Dealer Side BetUnlike other variants out there, Spanish 21 has an entertaining side bet that's called Match the Dealer. The way to win is by matching either of the initial cards in the hand you've been dealt out with the dealer's face up-card. The good thing about this type of bet is that there are a variety of ways to win and it also has a large payout potential ranging from 4:1 to 18:1 depending on which cards you manage to match.The downside to this type of bet however is that the house edge is far larger than that belonging to the rest of the game. In fact, the Match the Dealer bet carries a house edge of 3.99% and 3.06% for 8-deck games and 6-deck games respectively. So ultimately, if your main goal is having the best chance of winning, we recommend skipping out on this side bet. If you've played the classic variant of Blackjack online before and you're wondering how the Spanish 21 payouts compare, we highly recommend taking a look at the table below. Whilst looking through the table, you'll manage to find the different payouts per hand acquired.
